

European Commission has launched a public consultation on the new Draft Guidelines on environmental and energy State aid for 2014-2020

The objective of the consultation is to gather Member States, stakeholders and citizens at large opinions on the draft guidelines on environmental and energy aid for the period 2014-2020.

The draft guidelines set out the conditions under which state aid measures may be declared compatible with the internal market. The proposal is based on the Commission's decision practice as well as on its analysis of the current market and policy conditions in the environmental and energy sectors.

The period for this consultation is: 18.12.2013 – 14.02.2014.
